

Ora has returned to Conjuragic, along with the Gayden army, determined to thwart the overwhelming prejudice in the magical realm and stop the sinister Master who wishes to rule them all.

To do so she must wage a deadly war, battling the strongest fighters Conjuragic has to offer, while striving to protect those she loves.

As the war grows bloodier, Ora discovers her true strength, but can she control the raging inferno of her power before it destroys everything and all is lost?