

Suppose you could plan your life before you were born, what could it look like?

A melancholy ghost. A traumatized woman seeking sanctuary. Stone Cottage, a haven for both, until they come face to face.

Reluctantly dragged into the sphere of ghosts, past life regression, pre-birth planning and reincarnation, Rebecca learns healing and love know no bounds, including death.